- 4.2 Calls or demands for Margin Requirements must be met or satisfied by the Client forthwith upon demand by the Company. The time for payment of any Margin is of the essence and if no other time is stipulated by the Company when making a demand then the Client is required to immediately comply with such demand). The Client also agrees to pay immediately in full and on demand any amount owing with respect to any of the Account(s). All initial and subsequent deposits and payments for Margin and other purposes shall be made in cleared funds and in such currency and in such amounts as the Company may in its sole discretion require. The Client shall on demand reimburse the Company for all costs and expenses incurred by it in connection with the trading, dealing or Transactions effected in relation to the Margin Account(s) and/or pay or settle any outstanding amount under the Margin Account(s).
- 4.3 For the avoidance of doubt, failure by the Client to meet margin calls made by the Company by the time prescribed by the Company or otherwise or any other accounts payable hereunder shall give the Company the right (without prejudice to other rights) to close the Account(s) and/or to close out any position in the Account(s) (as the case may be) without notice to and/or consent by the Client and to dispose of any or all securities held for or on behalf of the Client and to apply the proceeds and any cash deposit(s) to pay the Company all outstanding balances owing to the Company and any CMBI Group Members. Any monies remaining after that application shall be refunded to the Client.
- 4.4 The Company shall be entitled to revise Margin Requirements from time to time in its absolute discretion. The Client shall be granted financial accommodation of up to such percentage as may be agreed from time to time of the market value of the Collateral maintained with the Company. No previous Margin Requirements shall establish a precedent and revised requirements once established shall apply to existing positions as well as to the new positions in the contracts affected by such revision.
- 4.5 Notwithstanding Clauses 4.1 and 4.2 of the Margin Client's Agreement, in the event that it is, in the sole opinion of the Company, impracticable for the Company to make demands for additional Margin pursuant to Clause 4.1 of the Margin Client's Agreement, including, if the impracticability is due to (i) the Client not being contactable or for any reasons does not respond after attempt to contact is made by the Company for such demands, or (ii) a change or development involving a prospective change:
- (1) in the local, national or international monetary, financial, economic or political conditions or foreign exchange controls which has resulted or is in the opinion of the Company likely to result in a material or adverse fluctuation in the stock market, currency market, commodities or futures market in Hong Kong and/or overseas; or
 - (2) which is or may be of a material adverse nature affecting the condition or operations of the Client,
- the Company shall be deemed to have made margin calls for such form and/or amounts as the Company may determine and such Margin shall become immediately due and payable by the Client.
- 4.6 Nothing in the Agreement shall be construed as taking away or affecting any lawful claim, lien or other rights and remedies which the Company may have in respect of any money held in any bank account pursuant to clause 11 of the Cash Client's Agreement and Clause 7 of the Margin Client's Agreement or in respect of any money received or paid into such bank account.
- 4.7 For the avoidance of doubt, if a debit balance arises on any of the Client's Account(s), the Company shall not be, nor shall the Company be deemed to be, obliged to make available or continue to make available any financial accommodation. In particular, but without limitation, the fact that the Company permits a debit balance to arise in any Account(s) so debited shall not imply any obligation on the part of the Company to advance monies or incur any obligation on the Client's behalf on any subsequent occasion, but without prejudice to the obligations of the Client in respect of any debit balance which the Company does permit to arise.
- 4.8 The Client agrees that any securities, monies and other assets deposited with, or otherwise provided by or on behalf of the Client to, the Company shall be Collateral in favour of the Company. The Client further agrees to charge by way of first priority fixed charge the Collateral and all securities, monies and other assets maintained at the Securities Account(s), including all related right, title and interest, in favour of the Company (both as trustee for the CMBI Group and for the Company itself) as continuing security for the payment and discharge of all its obligations and liabilities owned to the Company or the CMBI Group. The Client irrevocably authorises the Company to do all such acts and execute all such documents on the Client's behalf as the Company deems necessary to perfect, complete or obtain the benefits of such security. To such extent that such Collateral and securities, monies and other assets have not been charged by way of fixed charge under these Trading Account Terms, they shall be charged by way of first floating charge to the - Company (both as trustee for the CMBI Group and for the Company itself) as continuing security for the payment and discharge of all its obligations and liabilities owed to the Company and any CMBI Group Member.

- 4.9 All Margin (additional or otherwise) provided and maintained by the Client pursuant to Clause 4.1 of the Margin Client' s Agreement, and all monies and securities of the Client which are now or which shall at any time hereafter be deposited with, transferred or caused to be transferred to or held by the Company shall form part of the Collateral as a continuing security in favour of the Company and the CMBI Group for the payment and satisfaction of all liabilities, whether actual or contingent, present or future, due, owing or incurred from or by the Client to the Company and the CMBI Group under and pursuant to the Agreement.
- 4.10 The Company is not liable to pay interest on the monies or funds paid to or received by the Company in respect of the Margin Account(s) whether on deposit or however described. The Company is entitled to retain for its own benefit any interest or other realised income or increase in value earned or received in respect of such monies or funds. The Company is entitled to charge and the Client agrees to pay interest to the Company in respect of any deficit of the Margin Account(s) or any monies or funds otherwise owing to the Company at any time at such rates and on such other terms as the Company announced in the CMBI Website and/or notifies the Client from time to time. Interest shall be payable on the last day of each calendar month or forthwith upon demand by the Company.
- 4.11 The Client shall monitor the Margin Account(s) so that at all times the Margin Account(s) shall contain a sufficient account balance to meet the Margin Requirements. The Company may reject any instruction or order of the Client if the Client does not have a sufficient account balance to meet the Margin Requirements and may delay the processing of any instruction or order while determining the correct margin status of the Margin Account(s). The Client shall maintain, without notice or demand from the Company, a sufficient account balance at all times so as to continuously meet the Margin Requirements. The Client must at all times satisfy whatever Margin Requirements calculated or demanded by the Company.
- 4.12 The Company has no obligation to notify the Client of any failure to meet the Margin Requirements prior to the Company exercising its rights, powers, discretion and remedies under the Agreement. The Client understands and accepts that the Company may not always issue call or demand on Margin Requirements, that the Company generally may not credit the Margin Account(s) to meet any deficiency on Margin Requirements, and that the Company is authorised to exercise any of its rights under clause 13 and clause 15 of the Cash Client' s Agreement and Clause 8 of the Margin Client' s Agreement in order to satisfy Margin Requirements without prior notice to the Client.
- 4.13 Without prejudice and in addition to the terms and conditions herein, in the event that the balance of a Margin Account has zero equity or is in deficit at any time, or the Margin Account does not have a sufficient account balance to meet Margin Requirements, the Company shall have the right, in its sole discretion, but not the obligation, to exercise any of its rights under clause 13 and clause 15 of the Cash Client' s Agreement and Clause 8 of the Margin Client' s Agreement at any time and in such manner and in any Market as the Company deems necessary, without prior notice demand or call to the Client. The Client agrees to be responsible for, and promptly pay to the Company, any deficiency in the Margin Account(s) that arises from such exercise of rights or remain after such exercise of rights. The Company shall not have any liability to the Client for any losses or damages sustained by the Client in connection with such exercise of rights (or if the Company experiences a delay in exercising, or does not exercise such rights). Notwithstanding anything stated in the Agreement, the Client acknowledges and agrees that in certain circumstances or for certain securities products, the Company may not be able to issue a margin call or issue the margin call in time, and that it is possible that the Company (or the relevant third parties) may liquidate the related Securities and Collateral or exercise its rights under this Agreement without a margin call being issued at all in order to fulfill such Margin Requirements.
- 4.14 The Client expressly waives and relinquishes any rights to receive prior notice or demand from the Company and agrees that any prior demand, notice, announcement or advertisement shall not be deemed a waiver of the Company' s right to exercise any of its rights under clause 13 and clause 15 of the Cash Client' s Agreement and Clause 8 of the Margin Client' s Agreement. The Client understands that, in the event that the Company exercise such rights, the Client shall have no right or opportunity to determine the manner of exercising such rights by the Company. The Company may, in its absolute and sole discretion, exercise such rights on any Exchange or Market, and the Company or its associated company may take the other side of any closing out, liquidating or settlement transaction. In the event that the Company exercises such rights, such exercise of rights shall establish the amount of the Client' s gain or loss and indebtedness to the Company, if any. The Client shall reimburse and hold the Company harmless for all actions, omissions, costs, expenses, fees (including, legal costs), penalties, losses, claims or liabilities associated with any exercise of such rights by the Company. The Client shall be liable to and responsible for all resulting losses, notwithstanding the Company' s delay in or failure to exercise such rights. If the Company executes an order for which the Client did not have sufficient funds, the Company has the right, without notice to the Client, to liquidate the Transaction and the Client shall be responsible for any loss as a result of such liquidation, including any costs, and shall not be entitled to any profit that results from such liquidation.
- 4.15 The Client irrevocably and unconditionally authorises the Company to transfer, debit or deduct any money in the Margin Account(s) and/or the Account(s) so as to pay, discharge, satisfy the Client' s indebtedness, obligations and liabilities to the Company arising from, incurred under and relating to the Agreement, including the outstanding purchase monies, fees (including market data fees), charges, expenses, commissions and interests payable by the Client under and pursuant to the Agreement. The Client acknowledges and agrees that such deductions may affect the amount of money in the Margin Account(s) to be applied against the Margin Requirements. The Company may exercise any of its rights under clause 13 and clause 15 of the Cash Client' s Agreement and Clause 8 of the Margin Client' s Agreement if deduction of commissions, fees or other charges causes the Margin Account(s) to have an insufficient balance to satisfy the Margin Requirements.
- 4.16 The Client agrees to satisfy any call or demand for Margin Requirements issued by the Company by immediately depositing cleared funds in the Margin Account(s) to pay, in full, the under-margined open position.
- 4.17 The Company shall also have the right to exercise any of its rights under clause 13 and clause 15 of the Cash Client' s Agreement and Clause 8 of the Margin Client' s Agreement without prior notice to the Client in the same manner as provided above: (a) if any dispute arises concerning any trading or Transaction of the Client; (b) upon the Client's failure to timely discharge the liabilities, whether actual or contingent, present or future, due, owing or incurred from or by the Client to CMBI Group under and pursuant to the Agreement; (c) upon the Client's insolvency or filing of a petition in bankruptcy or for protection from creditors; (d) upon the appointment of a receiver, or (e) whenever the Company, in its absolute and sole discretion, deems necessary or advisable for the protection of the Company.

The Client agrees that the Company may receive and retain and the Client will not be entitled to certain benefits (including, but not limited to, interest on such loans, cash or other collateral in return for lending out the securities). In the event that the Company applies securities or Collateral in accordance with of this Clause, the Company may either:
- (1) act as principal in entering into a GMSLA or other securities borrowing and lending agreement(s) with any person for the purposes of on-lending the Client's securities or collateral. The Client agrees that all actions taken by the Company, by SEHK, by SEOCH or by HKSCC in accordance with the Applicable Laws and Regulations shall be binding on the Client.

- 2.2. The Client agrees that the terms of the Standard Contract for the relevant options series may be applied by the Company to each Options Contracts, Client Contract between the Company and the Client, and that all Client's client contracts shall be created, exercised, settled and discharged in accordance with the Applicable Laws and Regulations.

3. Instructions and Dealing Practice

- 3.1. The Company is hereby authorised to act upon the instructions to create, exercise, settle and/or discharge Options Contracts for the Stock Options Account and otherwise deal with any margin, collateral, securities, Premium, Options Contracts, receivables or monies held in or for the Stock Options Account subject to the Client Money Rules and Client Securities Rules.
- 3.2. The Client acknowledges and consents that the Company shall, at its absolute discretion, be entitled to claim margin offset for the Client's positions through the Client Offset Claim Account in DCASS.

4. Options Contracts

- 4.1. All Options Contracts for the Stock Options Account shall be subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement and the Applicable Laws and Regulations. The Client agrees that the Rules and Regulations shall be binding on the Company and the Client in respect of any Options Contracts, and the Company shall be authorized and entitled to perform such actions (or inactions) it deems necessary or desirable to comply with such Rules and Regulations and for protection of its interests.
- 4.2. The Client hereby confirms that the Stock Options Account is operated solely for the Client's account and benefit, and not for the benefit of any other person. In respect of all Options Contracts effected on the instructions, the Client shall pay the Company, within the time period notified by the Company, Premium, the Company's commission and any other payments, charges, and applicable levies imposed by SEHK or relevant foreign Exchange (as the case maybe), as have been notified to the Client. If no time period is specified by the Company, then the Client is required to comply with such demand before expiry of two hours from the time of making the demand (or within such shorter time required or notified by the Company from time to time if the Company requires the Client to do so). The Company may require the Client to make arrangements for payment of Premium, the Company's commission and any other payments, charges, and/or applicable levies imposed by SEHK or relevant foreign Exchange (as the case maybe) in advance of accepting instructions or may impose other requirements from time to time for the payment of the above items as the Company in its absolute discretion thinks fit. The Company may deduct such Premium, commissions, payments, charges and levies from the Stock Options Account or any Account.
- 4.3. The Company will provide product specifications for Options Contracts to the Client upon request. However, the Company may from time to time place limits on the open positions or delivery obligations that the Client may have without notice to the Client.
- 4.4. The Client acknowledges that:
- (a) the Company may be required to close out or give-up Client's Options Contracts to comply with position limits imposed by SEHK or relevant foreign Exchange (as the case maybe);
 - (b) if the Company goes into default, the default procedures of SEHK or relevant foreign Exchange (as the case maybe) may result in Client Contracts being closed out or given-up, or replaced by Client's Options Contracts between the Client and other Options Exchange Participant(s); and
 - (c) where there is a change in the capital structure or composition of the issuer of the underlying securities of an option class or in any other exceptional circumstances, SEOCH or relevant foreign Exchange (as the case maybe) may make adjustments to the terms and conditions of that option class as are, in its opinion, necessary and desirable to ensure that all parties to Contracts comprised in open positions in that option class are treated fairly. The Client hereby acknowledges and agrees that all such adjustments shall be binding on the Client.
- 4.5. On exercise of a Client Contract or Options Contract by or against the Client, the Client shall perform the Client's delivery obligations under the relevant contract, in accordance with the Standard Contract and as notified by the Company. The Client may on or before 4:00 p.m. on the date of maturity of the Client Contract or Options Contract (or such earlier or other time(s) as required by the Company or the terms of the Options Contract), notify the Company to exercise his rights under the Client Contract or Options Contract. Because the maturity date for different products is different, the Client should decide on his own when and whether he should exercise the Client Contract/Options Contract or not, the Company has no responsibility to inform the Client what to do on or before the maturity date. The Client should bear his own loss and consequences if the Company cannot or does not have sufficient time to exercise such rights.
- 4.6. The Client acknowledges that on the expiry day but only on the expiry day, the Options System will automatically generate exercise instructions in respect of all open long positions which are in-the-money by or above the percentage prescribed by SEOCH from time to time. The Client may instruct the Company to override such an "automatically generated exercise instruction" before the System Closure on the expiry day in accordance with the Operational Clearing Procedures.
- 4.7. The Client acknowledges that the Company may, at the Client's request, agree to the Client Contracts between the Company and the Client being replaced, in accordance with the Applicable Laws and Regulations, by Client Contracts between the Client and other Options Exchange Participant(s). The Company may take such actions it deems appropriate and the Client agrees to take such actions as required by the Company to comply with any such Client Contracts and Applicable Laws and Regulations.

- 4.8. The Client acknowledges that, although all Options Contracts are to be executed on SEHK, the Client and the Company shall contract as principals under Client Contracts.
- 4.9. In respect of the Client's short positions, in cases where the Client Contract is validly exercised (including cases pursuant to Clause 4.10 below) the Client shall fulfill his obligations under the relevant Client Contract before the required deadline (by 3:15 p.m. on the Business Day following the day of exercise in respect of Options Contracts listed in Hong Kong), or as amended or notified by the Company from time to time. In default thereof, without prejudice to other rights or remedies that the Company may have against the Client, the Company may without demand or notice close out any or all contracts positions or cover any liability of the Client under any short positions or deal with the same in the manner deemed most appropriate by the Company. The Client agrees that the Client will be responsible for all the costs and expenses of the Company in connection with the above and that the Company will not be liable for any loss that may thereby be incurred.
- 4.10. The Client understands and agrees that in accordance with the Options Trading Rules and Clearing Rules, SEOCH may randomly select any Options Trading Exchange Participant to exercise a Client Contract in a short open position in which case, that Options Trading Exchange Participant shall randomly select a Client Contract from among all Client Contracts comprised in short open positions of clients in the same option series as that Client Contract. The Client Contract so selected shall, by operation of the Agreement and the Options Trading Rules and Clearing Rules, for all purposes be treated as having been validly exercised at the time of such selection. The Company shall notify the Client of the details of such exercise as soon as possible.
- 4.11. Payment and/or delivery obligation shall arise when a Client Contract or Options Contract is validly exercised. On exercise of a Client Contract or Options Contract by or against the Client, the Client will perform its payment and delivery obligations under the Options Contracts, Client Contracts, the Standard Contract and/or as the Client has been notified by the Company. In the event the Client cannot deposit sufficient cash, securities or required assets into the Account prior to the time required by the Company, the execution broker and/or the relevant Options Contracts to settle the Client's payment or delivery obligations under any Options Contract, the Company and the execution broker shall have the rights to close out any or all contracts positions, or dispose or purchase sufficient quantity of the relevant commodities and/or assets in the markets in order to fulfill such obligations. The Client acknowledges that Client Contract and Options Contract (such as in-the-money options) may be automatically exercised. Where the Account does not have sufficient money or securities, the Client agrees to forthwith reimburse and fully indemnify the Company and the execution broker for any payment or delivery made by them due to exercise of any Options Contracts, and the Company and the execution broker shall have the right to dispose any securities and assets in the Accounts in order to cover any payment made by them and deficits in the Account. The Client agrees that the Company and the execution broker shall have absolute discretion to determine the timing of such actions and the prices of such disposal and purchase from such markets deemed suitable by the Company and/or the execution broker; and all related costs and expenses shall be borne and reimbursed by the Client on full indemnity basis.
- 4.12. The Client hereby acknowledges that the Client shall be responsible to the Company for any losses, costs, fees and expenses (including legal costs) incurred by the Company (on an indemnity basis) in connection with the Client's failure to meet his obligations by the due date as described in this Clause 4. The Client agrees to indemnify the Company, its employees and agents, against all losses and expenses resulting from breach of the Client's obligations under this Agreement, including costs reasonably incurred in collecting debts from the clients, and in closing the Stock Options Account.

5. Margin

- 5.1. The Client agrees to provide and maintain such margin in the Stock Options Account (the "Margin") in cash, securities and/or other assets in such form and amount and on such terms as the Company, execution broker or relevant third parties may in its absolute discretion require from time to time as security for the Client's obligations under the Agreement. The amounts required by way of Margin should not be less than, but may exceed the amounts as may be required by the Applicable Laws and Regulations or the relevant contracts in respect of the Client's open positions and delivery obligations, and may exceed 100% depending upon the product and market conditions. The Company may change any Margin in its sole discretion and at any time without prior notice to the Client. If the Company determines that additional Margin is required, the Client agrees to make payment to and/or deposit with the Company such additional Margin forthwith upon demand. All funds provided by the Client as Margin shall be cleared funds and all securities provided by the Client as Margin shall be securities to which the Client has valid and unencumbered title. No previous Margin shall establish any precedent. Change on Margin shall apply to open or existing positions as well as to new positions after the date of such change.
- 5.2. If the Company accepts securities by way of Margin, the Client shall on request provide the Company with such authority as the Company may require under the Applicable Laws and Regulations to authorise the Company to deliver such securities, directly or through an Options Exchange Participant, to SEOCH or applicable Clearing House as SEOCH or applicable Clearing House's collateral in respect of Exchange Traded Options Business resulting from the instructions; and the Company does not have any further authority from the Client to borrow or lend the Client's securities or otherwise part with possession (except to the Client or on the instructions) of any of the Client's securities for any other purpose. Where any securities has been deposited in the Stock Options Account and acceptable by the Company as qualified margin, the Client shall be deemed to have given authorization to the Company to treat, transfer and use the relevant securities as margin (whether to cover short call positions or other margin related purposes) without further notification to the Client.
- 5.3. Without prejudice to Clauses 5.5 to 5.12 hereto, calls or demands for Margin must be met or satisfied by the Client forthwith upon demand by the Company. The Client shall on demand put the Company in funds or monies or arrange for the Company to be put in funds or monies in time to enable the Company to discharge any liability incurred or to be incurred in connection with transactions effected in relation to the Stock Options Account. The Client shall on demand reimburse the Company for all costs and expenses incurred by it in connection with the transactions effected in relation to the Stock Options Account and/or pay or settle any outstanding amount under the Stock Options Account. Notwithstanding anything stated in the Agreement, the Client acknowledges and agrees that in certain circumstances or for certain securities products, the Company and the execution broker may not be able to issue a margin alert or margin call or issue them in time, and that it is possible that the Company (or the relevant third parties) may liquidate Securities and Collateral or exercise its rights under this Agreement without any margin alert or margin call being issued at all in order to fulfill such Margin Requirements.

- 5.4. The Company is not liable to pay interest on the monies or funds paid to or received by the Company in respect of the Stock Options Account whether on deposit or however described. The Company is entitled to retain for its own benefit any interest or other realised income or increase in value earned or received in respect of such monies or funds. The Company is entitled to charge and the Client agrees to pay interest to the Company in respect of any deficit in the Stock Options Account or any monies or funds otherwise owing to the Company at any time at such rates and on such other terms as the Company announced in the CMBI Website and/or notifies the Client from time to time. Interest shall be payable on the last day of each calendar month or forthwith upon demand by the Company.
- 5.5. The Client shall monitor the Stock Options Account so that at all times the Stock Options Account shall contain a sufficient account balance to meet the Margin. The Company may reject any instruction or order of the Client if the Client does not have a sufficient account balance to meet the Margin and may delay the processing of any instruction or order while determining the correct margin status of the Stock Options Account. The Client shall maintain, without notice or demand from the Company, a sufficient account balance at all times so as to continuously meet the Margin. The Client must at all times satisfy whatever Margin calculated by the Company. If the Client has multiple Accounts or sub-accounts with the Company, at the Company's sole discretion the Company may treat such Accounts (and/or sub-accounts) either as separate or as one account for purposes of applying the Margin. The Client acknowledges that this may cause the total Margin to be higher than otherwise and could cause positions to be liquidated in one Account or sub-account notwithstanding excess equity in another Account or sub-account.
- 5.6. The Client will not rely on the Company to close or liquidate positions in Client's Account in the event the Account does not comply with Margin Requirements. The Client will not rely on the Company's liquidation rights and auto-liquidation systems (if applicable) to function as a stoploss order. The Client cannot assume that the Company's general policy to liquidate positions will prevent Client from losing more than the Client has deposited. Amongst other things, market prices may not rise or fall incrementally and the Company may not be able to close out a position at a price that would avoid losses greater than the Margin deposit. The Company may in its sole discretion delay or decide not to liquidate positions in an account with a Margin deficit and shall have no liability for any loss sustained by Client in connection with such delay of or forbearance from liquidation.
- 5.7. The Company has no obligation to notify the Client of any failure to meet the Margin prior to the Company exercising its rights, powers, discretion and remedies under the Agreement. The Client understands and accepts that the Company generally will not issue call or demand on the Margin, that the Company generally will not credit the Stock Options Account to meet any deficiency on the Margin, and that the Company is authorised to exercise any of its rights under (a) the Account Agreements and/or (b) Clause 7 of Stock Options Trading Agreement in order to satisfy the Margin without prior notice to the Client.
- 5.8. In the event that the balance of the Stock Options Account has zero equity or is in deficit at any time, or the Stock Options Account does not have a sufficient account balance to meet the Margin, the Company shall have the right, in its sole discretion, but not the obligation, to exercise any of its rights under (a) the Account Agreements and/or (b) Clause 7 of Stock Options Trading Agreement at any time and in such manner and in any Market as the Company deems necessary, without prior notice demand or call to the Client. The Client agrees to be responsible for, and promptly pay to the Company, any deficiency in the Stock Options Account that arises from such exercise of rights or remain after such exercise of rights. The Company shall not have any liability to the Client for any losses or damages sustained by the Client in connection with such exercise of rights (or if the Company experiences a delay in exercising, or does not exercise such rights).
- 5.9. The Client expressly waives and relinquishes any rights to receive prior notice or demand from the Company and agrees that any prior demand, notice, announcement or advertisement shall not be deemed a waiver of the Company's right to exercise any of its rights under (a) the Account Agreement and/or (b) Clause 7 of Stock Options Trading Agreement. The Client understands that, in the event that the Company exercise such rights, the Client shall have no right or opportunity to determine the manner of exercising such rights by the Company. The Company may, in its absolute and sole discretion, exercise such rights on any Exchange or Market, and the Company or its associated company may take the other side of any closing out, liquidating or settlement transaction. In the event that the Company exercise such rights, such exercise of rights shall establish the amount of the Client's gain or loss and indebtedness to the Company, if any. The Client shall reimburse and hold the Company harmless for all actions, omissions, costs, expenses, fees (including, legal costs), penalties, losses, claims or liabilities associated with any exercise of such rights by the Company. The Client shall be liable to and responsible for all resulting losses, notwithstanding the Company's delay in or failure to exercise such rights. If the Company executes an order for which the Client did not have sufficient funds, the Company has the right, without notice to the Client, to liquidate the transaction and the Client shall be responsible for any loss as a result of such liquidation, including any costs, and shall not be entitled to any profit that results from such liquidation.
- 5.10. The Client irrevocably and unconditionally authorises the Company to transfer, debit or deduct any money or sell any securities in the Stock Options Account and/or the Account so as to pay, discharge, satisfy the Client's indebtedness, obligations and Liabilities to the Company arising from, incurred under and relating to the Agreement, including the outstanding purchase monies, fees (including market data fees), charges, expenses, commissions and interests payable by the Client under and pursuant to the Agreement. The Client acknowledges and agrees that such deductions may affect the amount of money in the Stock Options Account to be applied against the Margin. The Company may exercise any of its rights under (a) the Account Agreement and/or (b) Clause 7 of Stock Options

Trading Agreement if deduction of commissions, fees or other charges causes the Stock Options Account to have an insufficient balance to satisfy the Margin.

- 5.11. If the Company issues a call or demand for Margin to the Client, the Client must satisfy such call or demand immediately. The Client agrees to satisfy any call or demand for Margin issued by the Company by immediately depositing cleared funds in the Stock Options Account to pay, in full, the under-margined open position.
- 5.12. The Company shall also have the right to exercise any of its rights under (a) the Account Agreement and/or (b) Clause 7 of Stock Options Trading Agreement without prior notice to the Client in the same manner as provided above: (a) if any dispute arises concerning any trading or transaction of the Client; (b) upon the Client's failure to timely discharge the liabilities, whether actual or contingent, present or future, due, owing or incurred from or by the Client to CMBI Group; (c) upon the Client's insolvency or filing of a petition in bankruptcy or for protection from creditors; (d) upon the appointment of a receiver, or (e) whenever the Company, in its absolute and sole discretion, deems necessary or advisable for the protection of the Company.
- 5.13. Any failure by the Client to comply with this Clause 5 shall constitute an Event of Default under the Account Agreements.

6. Foreign Currency Transactions

If the Client gives instructions to the Company to enter into any Contract requiring a conversion from one currency to another, then: -

- (a) the costs thereof and any profit or loss arising as a result of fluctuations in the exchange rate of the relevant currency will be entirely for the account and risk of the Client;
- (b) all initial and subsequent deposits for Margin shall be made in such currency and in such amounts as the Company may require in its discretion; and
- (c) when such Options Contract is closed out, the Company shall debit or credit the Stock Options Account in such currency (as the Company may determine in its discretion) at such exchange rate as determined by the Company in its discretion.

7. Default

If the Client fails to comply with any of the Client's obligations and/or to meet the liabilities under the Agreement, including but not limited to failure to provide Margin or satisfy any delivery obligations, or on the occurrence of any Event of Default (in the sole and subjective judgment of the Company), the Company, in addition to its rights and powers under the Account Agreement, shall be entitled at their absolute discretions, without further notice or demand and in addition to and without prejudice to any other rights or powers conferred under the Agreement and/or other agreement, to forthwith: -

- (a) decline to accept further instructions in respect of Exchange Traded Options Business and any options tradings;
- (b) close out some or all of the Client Contracts or Options Contract with the Company;
- (c) enter into Contracts, or into any transactions in securities, Commodities, Exchange Contracts, F/O Contracts, in order to settle obligations arising or to hedge the risks to which the Company is exposed in relation to the Client's failure;
- (d) sell, realise or otherwise dispose of the Margin (whole or any part thereof) in such manner and for such consideration as the Company may in its absolute discretion think fit, and the Company does not have the responsibility to explain to the Client how it exercises its discretion, and apply the proceeds thereof to discharge all or part of the liabilities; or
- (e) if the amount of the Margin is not sufficient, the Client must immediately increase the amount of the Margin at the request of the Company, otherwise, the Company has the right to claim all the loss and damages against the Client.

Any proceeds remaining after discharge of all the Client's liabilities to the Company shall be paid to the Client.

8. Closure of Positions

Without prejudice to the Company's rights under Clause 7 above, the Company may, without the Client's consent, close all or any of the Client's positions if the Company is of the opinion that there has been a change or development involving a prospective change:

- (a) in the local, national or international monetary, financial, economic or political conditions or foreign exchange controls which has resulted or is in the opinion of the Company likely to result in a material or adverse fluctuation in the stock market or stock options market in Hong Kong and/or overseas; or
- (b) which is or may be of a material adverse nature affecting the condition or operations of the Client.

9. System and Third-Party Execution Broker

- 9.1. The Client accept the related system and applications "as is" (whether they are provided by the Company or by any third party) and without warranties, express or implied, including but not limited to the implied warranties of merchantability or fitness for a particular use, purpose or application, timeliness, free from interruption, or any implied warranties arising from trade usage, course of dealing or course of performance. Under no circumstances shall the Company or the third party broker be liable for any punitive, indirect, incidental, special or consequential loss or damages, including loss of business, profits or goodwill. The Company and the third party broker shall not be liable to you by reasons of delays or interruptions of services or transmissions, or failure of performance of any system, applications or other services related to the US Stock Option Transactions.
- 9.2. The Client acknowledge that the Company may deposit money and securities related to your trade with third party broker. The Client will be exposed to credit risks of such third party broker and the Company will not be responsible for any defaults of such third party broker. The Client' s securities or other properties may be lend, pledge, re-pledge, hypothecate or re-hypothecate, either separately or together with those of other clients.

- 9.3. The relevant Margin Requirements may be set and amended by the Company, the relevant third party broker, applicable exchange, regulator and/or clearing house from time to time. The Client acknowledges and agrees that the reference prices used by the Company, third party broker or other relevant parties to determinate Margin Requirements or trigger alerts or margin calls may not be the same as market price, bid/ask price or closing price; and such reference prices may be calculated based on a number of other factors determined suitable by the Company, third party broker or other relevant parties. It is also possible that the Company' s Margin Requirements may be more stringent than those set by the third party broker or other relevant parties (or vise versa). Where such Margin Requirements cannot be met or met in time, the Company and the execution broker shall have the rights to purchase and/or liquidate the related securities and collateral and exercise its other rights under this Agreement. In certain circumstances, the Client may not have sufficient time to deposit cash or securities into the Account in order to to satisfy Margin Requirements. The Client should note that the Client may not be receiving any margin calls or margin alerts and all or any part of the Client' s position may be liquidated without prior notice, especially in the event of sudden change of market conditions.

2.1. The Client represents, warrants and undertakes that:

- (1) All SPAC Securities transactions shall be effected in accordance with all Applicable Laws and Regulations applying to the Company, including but not limited to the listing and trading rules of HKEx. The Client agrees that all actions taken by the Company or by HKEx in accordance with the Applicable Laws and Regulations shall be binding on the Client.
- (2) The Client and its underlying clients (where applicable) is capable of making and will make all the representations, warranties, undertakings and declarations required to be made by a purchaser or holder of the SPAC Securities under the terms and conditions of the SPAC Securities and the Listing Documents. The Client confirms that all representations, confirmations and declarations made or to be made under the related documents by the Client and its indemis as a purchaser, holder or in other capacity are accurate and complete. The Client and its underlying clients have complied and will comply with all undertakings and selling restrictions under the relevant Listing Documents.

- (3) Trading of SPAC Securities is limited to a Professional Investor or other type of investors approved by HKEx and/or SFC (“Eligible SPAC Investor”). The Client confirms that it will trade SPAC Securities only when the Client is, and in the case where the Client is an intermediary (including, but not limited to, a fund manager, asset manager, broker or order placer) trading for or on behalf of an underlying client or clients, each such underlying client is, an Eligible SPAC Investor. The Client further represents and undertakes to examine, verify and ensure its underlying clients are Eligible SPAC Investors. If the Client or any underlying client or clients is not an Eligible SPAC Investor (“Non-Eligible SPAC Investors”), the Client hereby agrees and authorizes the Company, at any time, to facilitate the disposal, redemption, voting or otherwise dealing with such SPAC Securities of such Non-Eligible SPAC Investors in the Company’ s absolute discretion. The Client undertakes to indemnify and keep the Company indemnified in respect of any costs, claims, demands, damages and expenses whatsoever which may be suffered or incurred by the Company directly or indirectly arising out of or in connection with such SPAC Securities transactions entered into by the Company as agent on behalf of any Non-Eligible SPAC Investors. - 2.2. All representations and warranties shall be deemed to be repeated by the Client immediately before effecting and executing each SPAC Securities transaction.

3. Mandatory Unwinding

- 3.1. In the event the Company receives notice from HKEx or SFC requiring the Company to unwind any positions in relation to SPAC Securities, or where the Company determines in its sole discretion that any SPAC Securities transaction is not in compliance with applicable laws, regulations, listing rules, guidelines or other requirements of HKEx or SFC, the Company shall be entitled to serve notice (“Mandatory Unwind Notice”) to request the Client to unwind any position with respect to SPAC Securities within three days (or within such other time as specified by the Company in the Mandatory Unwind Notice). If such request is not complied with in a timely manner, the Client authorizes the Company to dispose, vote, redeem or otherwise deal with such relevant SPAC Securities on behalf of the Client at such price and on such terms and manners as the Company may determine in its sole and absolute discretion to be necessary to comply with any such laws, regulations, listing rules, guidelines or requirements.

4. Risks Disclosures – SPAC Securities

The risks related to SPAC Securities listed below or in the Listing Documents are not exhaustive. The Client should ensure all related risks are acceptable before investing into any SPAC Securities.

- 4.1. Risk of Price Volatility - As a SPAC has no operations, it is unable to report performance factors (e.g. revenue, profit / loss and cash flow) that investors would normally rely upon to determine the value of its shares. The share price of a SPAC is therefore likely to be driven by speculation, such as with respect to the potential outcome of the SPAC’ s efforts to find a suitable De-SPAC Target.
- 4.2. Lack of Information - A SPAC is subject to less stringent regulatory requirements during the IPO stage and it may result in a higher chance of misinformation. In-depth information disclosure that are usually required for traditional IPO may not be available for listing of SPAC. Since the SPAC has yet to identify a specific target business at the time of listing, investors may not be able to make full assessment on their investment.
- 4.3. Uncertainty of De-SPAC Target - The simpler route to listing for SPACs may incentivise companies that have not reached market standards and quality to take advantage of this quick access to public funding by circumventing the rigorous approval process normally required in a traditional IPO. Sponsors may be faced with time pressure to complete the De-SPAC Transaction within specified timeframe. It may result in the underperformance or failure of the combined business entity.
- 4.4. Potential Conflict of Interest - The sponsors may be financially motivated to proceed with the De-SPAC Transaction regardless of the quality of the De-SPAC Target as they are entitled to stake in the SPAC with a minimal investment upon the De-SPAC Transaction; and their interests may be potentially in conflict with SPAC Shareholder’ s interests.
- 4.5. Dilution Risk - The redemption feature of the SPAC creates uncertainty on the amount of funds available to the SPAC to complete an acquisition of De-SPAC Target and whether the sponsors can secure additional funds from the PIPE or other investors to complete such acquisition. The availability and costs of such additional funds highly depend on the market and economic conditions and it may have a dilution effect on the equity interest of the investors of the SPAC.
- 4.6. Risk of Mandatory-Unwind - As a result of implementing a Client Mandatory Unwind Notice, investors may suffer heavy losses on the investment in SPAC Securities.
- 4.7. SPAC Warrant Risk - The terms of SPAC Warrants may vary greatly across different SPACs. It is important for investors to review the Listing Documents of the particular SPAC to understand the specific terms of the SPAC Warrants. A SPAC Warrant provides the holder with the right to purchase a SPAC Share (or a fraction of a SPAC Share) at a set exercise price at a set time. If an investor misses the notice of redemption and fails to exercise within the given period or the SPAC Warrants are forced to be exercised early, the SPAC Warrants held by the investor can become essentially worthless.

- 4.8. Volatility of Warrants - SPAC Warrants prior to a De-SPAC Transaction may experience higher price volatility than SPAC Shares soon after a SPAC is listed and this price volatility may increase gradually as the deadline for a De-SPAC Transaction approaches. If a SPAC is liquidated, investors will receive a pro rata amount of the funds held in the SPAC's trust account and their SPAC Warrants may become worthless.

The following terms and conditions form part of the terms and conditions of the Agreement and are additional and supplemental to the Cash Client' s Agreement and Margin Client' s Agreement. Where any conflict or inconsistency arises between any provision of this Schedule 3 and any provision of the Agreement, the Company has absolute discretion to determine which terms and conditions shall prevail.

The Client represents (which representation will be deemed to be repeated on each date that a Transaction is entered into) to the Company that these Risk Disclosure Statements have been fully explained to the Client and that the Client has been invited to seek independent legal and financial advice in relation to the matters as more particularly set out in these Risk Disclosure Statements. The Client further declares that the Client has carefully read these Risk Disclosure Statements and fully understands and accepts the content of the same and agrees to be bound by the same.

- (1) The Client acknowledges that the prices of securities fluctuate, sometimes dramatically. The price of a security may move up or down, and may become valueless. It is as likely that losses will be incurred rather than profit made as a result of buying and selling securities. This is a risk that the Client is prepared to accept.
- (2) If it is required to convert the funds of IPO and/or Placing from one currency into another currency, investors are exposed to exchange rate risk and may suffer loss as a result of the fluctuations in exchange rate. If the Offer Securities are denominated in foreign currency or in both Hong Kong Dollar and foreign currency, investors are exposed to exchange rate risk and may suffer loss as a result of the fluctuations in exchange rate.

- (4) The Client acknowledges that Growth Enterprise Market (GEM) stocks involve a high investment risk. In particular, companies may list on GEM with neither a track record of profitability nor any obligation to forecast future profitability. GEM stocks may be very volatile and illiquid. The Client acknowledges and understands that the Client should make the decision to invest only after due and careful consideration. The greater risk profile and other characteristics of GEM mean that it is a market more suited to professional and other sophisticated investors. The Client acknowledges and understands that current information on GEM stocks may only be found on the internet website operate by SEHK. GEM companies are usually not required to issue paid announcements in gazetted newspapers. This sub-clause does not purport to disclose all the risks and other significant aspects of GEM. The Client understands and acknowledges that he should undertake his own research and study on the trading of securities on GEM before commencing any trading activities, and that he should seek independent professional advice if he is uncertain of or has not understood any aspect of this sub-clause or the nature and risks involved in trading of GEM stocks.
- (5) The Client acknowledges that client assets received or held by the Company outside Hong Kong are subject to the Applicable Laws and Regulations of the relevant overseas jurisdiction which may be different from the Securities and Futures Ordinance and the rules made thereunder. Consequently, such client assets may not enjoy the same protection as that conferred on client assets received or held in Hong Kong.
- (6) The Client also acknowledges that there are risks in leaving securities in the custody of the Company, its associated entities or its agent. For example, if the Company is holding the Client' s securities and becomes insolvent, the Client may experience significant delay in recovering securities. These are risks that the Client is prepared to accept.
- (7) If the Company commits a default as defined in Part XII of the Securities and Futures Ordinance and a qualifying client thereby suffers a pecuniary loss, the qualifying client shall have a right to claim under the compensation fund established under the Securities and Futures Ordinance, subject to the terms of the compensation fund from time to time. The qualifying client' s right to claim under the compensation fund shall be restricted to the extent provided for in the Securities and Futures Ordinance and its rules and regulations.
- (8) The Client also understands and acknowledges the following:
 - (1) Electronic Trading Facilities are supported by computer-based component systems for the order-routing, execution, matching, registration or clearing of trades. As with all facilities and systems, they are vulnerable to temporary disruption or failure.  - (2) The Client acknowledges and accepts that if he undertakes transaction on an Electronic Trading System, he will be exposed to risks associated with the system including the failure of hardware and software, and that the result of any system failure may be that his order is either not executed according to his instructions or not executed at all.
- (9) The Client acknowledges and accepts that due to unpredictable traffic congestion and other reasons, electronic transmission may not be a reliable medium of communication, that Transactions conducted via electronic means are subject to delays in transmission and receipt of his instructions or other information, delays in execution or execution of his instructions at price different from those prevailing at the time his instruction were given, transmission interruption or blackout, that there are risks of misunderstanding or errors in communication, and that it is also usually not possible to cancel an instruction after it has been given. The licensed or registered person shall not be responsible for any consequences of these delays, including delays in the transmission of instructions/orders to the place of execution or the transmission of reports of execution to Client due to any failure of communication facilities, or any other delays beyond the reasonable control of the licensed or registered person. Communications over the internet may be subject to transmission blackout, interruption, interception, or incorrect data transmission due to the public nature of the internet or other reasons that are beyond the licensed or registered person's control. The licensed or registered person shall not be responsible for any losses or damages incurred or suffered as a result thereof.

- (10) The Client acknowledges and accepts that if he provides the Company with an authority to hold mail or direct mail to third parties, it is important for the Client to promptly collect in person all contract notes and statement of his Account and review them in detail to ensure that any anomalies or mistakes can be detected in a timely fashion.
- (11) The Client acknowledges and accepts that the securities under the Nasdaq-Amex Pilot Program ("PP") are aimed at sophisticated investors. - (12) In the event that the Client wishes to have Transactions pursuant to this Agreement executed on Exchange other than the SEHK, the Client acknowledges and recognizes that, since such Transactions will be subject to the rules and regulations of those Exchanges, and applicable local laws, and not those of the SEHK, the Client may have a markedly different level and type of protection in relation to those Transactions compared to the level and type of protection afforded by the rules and regulations of the SEHK and Hong Kong law and the Client acknowledges and recognizes, without limitation, that such Transactions executed on exchanges other than the SEHK will not be subject to a right to claim under the compensation fund established under the Securities and Futures Ordinance where the Client suffers a pecuniary loss.
- (13) The Client understands and acknowledges that the following risks associated with Derivative Warrants and Callable Bull/Bear Contracts ("structured product") that traded on Exchanges:
 - (1) In the event that a structured product issuer becomes insolvent and defaults on their listed securities, the Client will be considered as unsecured creditor and will have no preferential claims to any assets held by the issuer. The Client should therefore pay close attention to the financial strength and credit worthiness of structured product issuers;
 - (2) Uncollateralised structured products are not asset backed. In the event of issuer bankruptcy, the Client can lose their entire investment. The Client should read the listing documents to determine if a product is uncollateralised;
 - (3) Structured products such as derivative warrants and callable bull/bear contracts are leveraged and can change in value rapidly according to the gearing ratio relative to the underlying assets. The Client should be aware that the value of a structured product may fall to zero resulting in a total loss of the initial investment;
 - (4) Structured products have an expiry date after which the issue may become worthless. The Client should be aware of the expiry time horizon and choose a product with an appropriate lifespan for their trading strategy;
 - (5) The price of a structured product may not match its theoretical price due to outside influences such as market supply and demand factors. As a result, actual traded prices can be higher or lower than the theoretical price;
 - (6) The Client trading structured products with underlying assets not denominated in Hong Kong dollars are also exposed to exchange rate risk. Currency rate fluctuations can adversely affect the underlying asset value, also affecting the structured product price;
 - (7) The SEHK requires all structured product issuers to appoint a liquidity provider for each individual issue. The role of liquidity providers is to provide two way quotes to facilitate trading of their products. In the event that a liquidity provider defaults or ceases to fulfill its role, the Client may not be able to buy or sell the product until a new liquidity provider has been assigned;
 - (8) The Client further understands and acknowledges that the following additional risks involved in trading Derivative Warrants:
 - (i) All things being equal, the value of a derivative warrant will decay over time as it approaches its expiry date. The Client should therefore not view derivative warrants as long term investments.
 - (ii) Prices of derivative warrants can increase or decrease in line with the implied volatility of underlying asset price. The Client should be aware of the underlying asset volatility;
 - (iii) In addition to the basic factors that determine the theoretical price of a derivative warrant, derivative warrant prices are also affected by all other prevailing market forces including the demand for and supply of the derivative warrants. Supply and demand forces may be greatest when a derivative warrant issue is almost sold out and when issuers make further issues of an existing derivative warrant issue;
 - (9) The Client also understands and acknowledges that the following additional risks involved in trading Callable Bull/Bear Contracts:
 - (i) The Client trading Callable Bull/Bear Contracts should be aware of their intraday "knockout" or mandatory call feature. A callable bull/bear contracts will cease trading when the underlying asset value equals the mandatory call price/level as stated in the listing documents. The Client will only be entitled to the residual value of the terminated callable bull/bear contracts as calculated by the product issuer in accordance with the listing documents. The Client should also note that the residual value can be zero.

- (ii) The issue price of a callable bull/bear contracts includes funding costs. Funding costs are gradually reduced over time as the callable bull/bear contracts moves towards expiry. The longer the duration of the callable bull/bear contracts, the higher the total funding costs. In the event that a callable bull/bear contracts is called, the Client will lose the funding costs for the entire lifespan of the callable bull/bear contracts. The formula for calculating the funding costs are stated in the listing documents.

(10) The Client also understands and acknowledges that the following additional risks involved in trading in Shanghai and Shenzhen-Hong Kong Stock Connect and agrees to the below:

- (i) Investors should note that any Northbound or Southbound trading will not be covered by Hong Kong's Investor Compensation Fund. Hong Kong's Investor Compensation Fund is established to pay compensation to investors of any nationality who suffer pecuniary losses as a result of default of a licensed intermediary or authorised financial institution in relation to exchange-traded products in Hong Kong. Examples of default are insolvency, in bankruptcy or winding up, breach of trust, defalcation, fraud, or misfeasance. As far as Southbound trading is concerned, since Mainland securities brokers are neither licensees nor registered institutions with the SFC in Hong Kong and they are not regulated by the SFC, the Investor Compensation Fund will not cover Southbound trading. As for Northbound trading, according to the Securities and Futures Ordinance, the Investor Compensation Fund will only cover products traded in Hong Kong's recognised securities market (SEHK) and recognised futures market (Hong Kong Futures Exchange Limited, HKFE). Since default matters in Northbound trading do not involve products listed or traded in SEHK or HKFE, so similar to the case of investors trading overseas securities, they will not be covered by the Investor Compensation Fund. For further information on Hong Kong's Investor Compensation Fund, please refer to the website of Investor Compensation Company Limited. For information on licensees and registered institutions under the SFC, please consult the Public Register of Licensed Persons & Registered Institutions in the SFC website. On the other hand, according to the Measures for the Administration of Securities Investor Protection Fund the functions of China Securities Investor Protection Fund (CSIPF) include "indemnifying creditors as required by China's relevant policies in case a securities company is subjected to compulsory regulatory measures including dissolution, closure, bankruptcy and administrative takeover by China Securities Regulatory Commission (CSRC) and custodian operation" or "other functions approved by the State Council". As far as Hong Kong investors participating in Northbound trading are concerned, since they are carrying out Northbound trading through securities brokers in Hong Kong and these brokers are not Mainland brokers, therefore they are not protected by CSIPF on the Mainland;
- (ii) When the respective aggregate quota balance for Northbound and Southbound trading is less than the daily quota, the corresponding buy orders will be suspended on the next trading day (sell orders will still be accepted) until the aggregate quota balance returns to the daily quota level. Once the daily quota is used up, acceptance of the corresponding buy orders will also be immediately suspended and no further buy orders will be accepted for the remainder of the day. Buy orders which have been accepted will not be affected by the using up of the daily quota, while sell orders will be continued to be accepted. Depending on the aggregate quota balance situation, buying services will be resumed on the following trading day;
- (iii) As mentioned above, it will only operate on days when both markets are open for trading and when banks in both markets are open on the corresponding settlement days. So it is possible that there are occasions when it is a normal trading day for the Mainland market but Hong Kong investors cannot carry out any A-share trading. Investors should take note of the days open for business and decide according to their own risk tolerance capability whether or not to take on the risk of price fluctuations in A-shares during the time when it is not trading;
- (iv) For investors who usually keep their A-shares outside of their brokers, if they want to sell certain A-shares they hold, they must transfer those A-shares to the respective accounts of their brokers before the market opens on the day of selling (T day). If they fail to meet this deadline, they will not be able to sell those A-shares on T day;
- (v) When a stock is recalled from the scope of eligible stocks for trading for above-mentioned reasons, the stock can only be sold but restricted from being bought. This may affect the investment portfolio or strategies of investors. Investors should therefore pay close attention to the list of eligible stocks as provided and renewed from time to time by SSE and SEHK;
- (vi) Hong Kong and overseas investor who holds a local currency other than RMB will be exposed to currency risk if he/she invests in a RMB product due to the need for the conversion of the local currency into RMB. During the conversion, you will also incur currency conversion costs. Even if the price of the RMB asset remains the same when you purchase it and when you redeem / sell it, you will still incur a loss when you convert the redemption / sale proceeds into local currency if RMB has depreciated;
- (vii) No day trading is allowed in Northbound trading;
- (viii) For the Northbound trading, pre-trade checking is in place so that a Client must have his/her shares transferred to the Company's corresponding CCASS account before the commencement of trading on a trading day if he/she intends to sell the shares during a trading day, unless other arrangement is in place;
- (ix) All trade in Northbound trading must be conducted on SSE, i.e. no over-the-counter (OTC) or manual trades are allowed;
- (x) Naked short selling is not allowed in Northbound trading
- (xi) For the Northbound trading, foreign shareholding restriction (including the forced-sale arrangement) is in place and the Company should have the right to "force-sell" Client's shares upon receiving the forced-sale notification from SEHK;

- (xii) For the Northbound trading, investors should understand fully the Mainland rules and regulations in relation to short-swung profits, disclosure obligations and follow such rules and regulations accordingly;
- (xiii) The Company may have the right to cancel Client' s orders in case of contingency such as Severe Weather;
- (xiv) The Company may not be able to send in Client' s order cancellation requests in case of contingency such as when SEHK loses all its communication lines with SSE, etc and investors should still bear the settlement obligations if the orders are matched and executed;
- (xv) The Client must comply with SSE Rules and other applicable laws of PRC relating to Northbound trading;
- (xvi) The Company may forward the Client' s identity to SEHK which may on-forward to SSE for surveillance and investigation purposes;
- (xvii) If the SSE Rules are breached, or the disclosure and other obligations referred to in the SSE Listing Rules or SSE Rules is breached, SSE has the power to carry out an investigation, and may, through SEHK, require Company to provide relevant information and materials and to assist in its investigation;
- (xviii) SEHK may upon SSE' s request, require the Company to reject orders from the Client. Client needs to accept the risks concerned in Northbound trading, including but not limited to prohibition of trading SSE Securities, being liable or responsible for breaching the SSE Listing Rules, SSE Rules and other Applicable Laws and Regulations;
- (xix) SSE may request SEHK to require Company to issue warning statements (verbally or in writing) to their clients, and not to extend Northbound trading service to their clients;
- (xx) HKEx, SEHK, SEHK Subsidiary, SSE and SSE Subsidiary and their respective directors, employees and agents shall not be responsible or held liable for any loss or damage directly or indirectly suffered by Company, its clients or any third parties arising from or in connection with Northbound trading or the CSC.
- (xxi) Trading of ChiNext/STAR Shares is limited to institutional professional investor within the meaning of paragraph (a), (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h) or (i) of the definition of "professional investor" in section 1 of Part 1 of Schedule 1 to the SFO or other types of investors that are permitted or approved by the China Connect Authorities to trade ChiNext/STAR Shares through Shenzhen-Hong Kong Stock Connect or Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect ("Eligible ChiNEXT/STAR Investor") The Client will trade ChiNext/STAR Shares only when the Client is, and in the case where the Client is an intermediary (including, but not limited to, a fund manager, asset manager, broker or order placer) trading for or on behalf of an underlying client or clients, each such underlying client is, an eligible ChiNext/STAR Investor as stated above. If the Client or any underlying client or clients is not an institutional professional investor ("Non-Eligible ChiNext/STAR Investors"), the Client hereby agrees and authorizes the Company, at any time, to facilitate the disposal of such ChiNext/STAR Shares of such Non-Eligible ChiNext/STAR Investors at the Company' s absolute discretion. The Client undertakes to indemnify and keep indemnified the Company in respect of any costs, claim, demands, damages and expenses whatsoever which may be suffered or incurred by the Company directly or indirectly arising out of or in connection with such ChiNext/STAR Shares transactions entered into by the Company as agent on behalf of any Non-Eligible ChiNext/STAR Investors. The Client also agrees to pay promptly to the Company, on demand, all damages, costs and expenses (including legal expenses on a full indemnity basis) reasonably and properly incurred by the Company in the enforcement of this provision.
- (xxii) ChiNext/STAR Shares involve a high investment risk. In particular, profitability and other financial requirements for listing on the ChiNext/STAR Board are less stringent than the Main Board and the SME Board of the SZSE or SSE. The Customer should make the decision to invest only after due and careful consideration. Companies listed on the ChiNext/STAR Board may include enterprises in the innovation and technology sector as well as other start-up and/or growth enterprises with smaller operating scale and share capital. Stock prices may also be more susceptible to manipulation due to fewer circulating shares. Accordingly, the ChiNext/STAR Shares may be very volatile and illiquid. In addition, current information on such companies may be limited and may not be widely available. It may be more common and easier for companies listed on the ChiNext/STAR Board to be delisted. The ChiNext/STAR Shares may become very illiquid after delisting. The Customer may suffer a total loss of its investment in the event of a delisting. The Customer should seek independent professional advice if the Customer is uncertain of or has not understood any aspect of these China Connect Securities Trading Risk Disclosures or the nature and risks involved in trading of ChiNext/STAR Shares.
- (xxiii) No margin trading services, short selling and stock borrowing lending services will be provided in Shenzhen-Hong Stock Connect and Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect.

(14) Access to the internet or other electronic medium may be limited or unavailable during periods of peak demand, market volatility, systems upgrades or maintenance or for other reasons. Any communication through the internet or other electronic medium may be subject to interruption, transmission blackout, and delayed transmission due to unpredictable traffic congestion and other reasons beyond the licensed or registered person' s control. Internet is, due to technical limitation, an inherently unreliable medium of communication. As a result of such unreliability, there may be delays in the transmission and receipt of information. The statements may not be sent to the designed email address at all. Moreover, communications and personal data may be accessed by unauthorised third parties, and there are risks of misunderstanding or error in any communication and that such risks shall be absolutely borne by Client.

(15) Some options may only be exercised on an expiry day (European-style exercise) and other options may be exercised at any time before expiration (American-style exercise). Client understands that upon exercise some options require delivery and receipt of the underlying security and that other options require a cash payment. An option is a wasting asset and there is a possibility that as an option holder Client may suffer the loss of the total premium paid for the option. Client acknowledges that, as an option holder, in order to realise a profit it will be necessary to either exercise the option or close the long option position in the market. Under some circumstances it may be difficult to trade the option due to lack of liquidity in the market. Client acknowledges that the licensed or registered person has no obligation either to exercise a valuable option in the absence of Client's instruction or to give to Client prior notice of the expiration date of the option.

- (16) As a writer of an option Client may be required to pay additional margin at any time. Client acknowledges that as an option writer, unlike an option holder, it may be liable for unlimited losses based on the rise or fall of the price of the underlying security and its gains are limited to the option premium. Additionally, writers of American-style call (Put) options may be required at any time before expiry to deliver (pay for) the underlying securities to the full value of the strike price multiplied by the number of underlying securities. Client recognises that this obligation may be wholly disproportionate to the value of premium received at the time the options were written and may be required at short notice.
- (17) The Client also understands and acknowledges that the following additional risks involved in trading in trading of options:
- (1) Client acknowledges that due to the volatile nature of securities markets, the purchase of options over securities involves a high degree of risk.
 - (2) The risk of loss in trading options is substantial. In some circumstances, Client may sustain losses in excess of Client's initial margin funds. Placing contingent orders, such as "stop-loss" or "stop-limit" orders, will not necessarily avoid loss. Market conditions may make it impossible to execute such orders. Client may be called upon at short notice to deposit additional margin funds. If the required funds are not provided within the prescribed time, Client's position may be liquidated. Client will remain liable for any resulting deficit in Account. Client should therefore study and understand options before Client trade and carefully consider whether such trading is suitable in the light of Client's own financial position and investment objectives. If Client trades options Client should inform Client's self of exercise and expiration procedures and Client's rights and obligations upon exercise or expiry.
 - (3) This brief statement does not disclose all of the risks and other significant aspects of trading in options. In light of the risks, Client should undertake such Transactions only if Client understands the nature of the contracts (and contractual relationships) into which Client is entering and the extent of Client's exposure to risk. Trading in options is not suitable for many members of the public. Client should carefully consider whether trading is appropriate for Client in light of Client's experience, objectives, financial resources and other relevant circumstances.
 - (4) Client should ask the licensed or registered person about the terms and conditions of the specific futures or options which Client is trading and associated obligations (e.g. expiration dates and restrictions on the time for exercise). Under certain circumstances the specifications of outstanding contracts (including the exercise price of an option) may be modified by the Exchange or Clearing House to reflect changes in the underlying interest.
 - (5) Market conditions (e.g. illiquidity) and/or the operation of the rules of certain markets (e.g. the suspension of trading in any contract or contract month because of price limits or "circuit breakers") may increase the risk of loss by making it difficult or impossible to effect Transactions or liquidate/offset positions. If Client has sold options, this may increase the risk of loss. Normal pricing relationships between the underlying interest and the option may not exist. The absence of an underlying reference price may make it difficult to judge "fair value" .
 - (6) Client should familiarise Client's self with the protections given to money or other property Client deposit for domestic and foreign Transactions, particularly in the event of a firm insolvency or bankruptcy. The extent to which Client may recover Client's money or property may be governed by specific legislation or local rules. In some jurisdictions, property which had been specifically identifiable as Client's own will be pro-rated in the same manner as cash for purposes of distribution in the event of a shortfall.
 - (7) Before Client begins to trade, Client should obtain a clear explanation of all commission, fees and other charges for which Client will be liable. These charges will affect Client's net profit (if any) or increase Client's loss.
 - (8) Transactions on markets in other jurisdictions, including markets formally linked to a domestic market, may expose Client to additional risk. Such markets may be subject to regulation which may offer different or diminished investor protection. Before Client trades, Client should enquire about any rules relevant to Client's particular Transactions. Client's local regulatory authority will be unable to compel the enforcement of the rules of regulatory authorities or markets in other jurisdictions where Client's Transactions have been effected. Client should ask the licensed or registered person with which Client deals for details about the types of redress available in both Client's home jurisdiction and other relevant jurisdictions before Client starts to trade.
 - (9) In some jurisdictions, and only then in restricted circumstances, the licensed or registered person is permitted to effect off-exchange Transactions. The licensed or registered person with which Client deals may be acting as Client's counterparty to the Transaction. It may be difficult or impossible to liquidate an existing position, to assess the value, to determine a fair price or to assess the exposure to risk. For these reasons, these Transactions may involve increased risks. Off-exchange Transactions may be less regulated or subject to a separate regulatory regime. Before Client undertakes such Transactions, Client should familiarise with applicable rules and attendant risks.
 - (10) Transactions in options carry a high degree of risk. Purchasers and sellers of options should familiarise themselves with the type of option (i.e. put or call) which they contemplate trading and the associated risks. Client should calculate the extent to which the value of the options must increase for Client's position to become profitable, taking into account the premium and all transaction costs.
 - (11) The purchaser of options may offset or exercise the options or allow the options to expire. The exercise of an option results either in a cash settlement or in the purchaser acquiring or delivering the underlying interest. If the purchased options expire worthless, Client will suffer a total loss of Client's investment which will consist of the option premium plus transaction costs. If Client is contemplating purchasing deep-out-of-the-money options, Client should be aware that the chance of such options becoming profitable ordinarily is remote.

- (12) Selling ("writing" or "granting") an option generally entails considerably greater risk than purchasing options. Although the premium received by the seller is fixed, the seller may sustain a loss well in excess of that amount. The seller will be liable for additional margin to maintain the position if the market moves unfavourably. The seller will also be exposed to the risk of the purchaser exercising the option and the seller will be obligated to either settle the option in cash or to acquire or deliver the underlying interest. If the option is "covered" by the seller holding a corresponding position in the underlying interest or another option, the risk may be reduced. If the option is not covered, the risk of loss can be unlimited
 - (13) Certain Exchanges in some jurisdictions permit deferred payment of the option premium, exposing the purchaser to liability for margin payments not exceeding the amount of the premium. The purchaser is still subject to the risk of losing the premium and transaction costs. When the option is exercised or expires, the purchaser is responsible for any unpaid premium outstanding at that time.
- (18) The Client also understands and acknowledges that the following additional risks involved in trading securities on Margin,:
- (1) The Client can lose more funds than the Client deposits in the Margin Account. A decline in the value of securities that are purchased on Margin may require the Client to provide additional funds to the Company or the Client must put up Margin to avoid the forced sale of those securities or other assets in the Account(s). The Company can force the sale of securities or other assets in the Account(s). If the equity in the Account falls below the maintenance Margin Requirements, or if the Company has higher requirements in its sole and absolute discretion, the Company can sell the securities or other assets in any of the Accounts held to cover the Margin deficiency. The Client also will be responsible for any shortfall in the Account after such a sale. The Company can sell the Client's securities or other assets without notification to the Client.
 - (2) The Client is not entitled to choose which securities or other assets in the Account(s) are liquidated or sold to meet a margin call. The Company has the right to decide which positions to sell in order to protect its interests.
 - (3) The Company can increase its Margin Requirements at any time and is not required to provide the Client with advanced written notice. Failure of the Client to maintain adequate Margin in the event of an increased margin rate generally will cause the Company to liquidate or sell securities in the Account(s).
 - (4) The Client will pay interest on margin loan at the rates as announced on the CMBI Website or Mobile Site. These margin interest costs reduce the Client's return on investment.
- (19) The Client also understands and acknowledges that the following additional risks involved in trading in United States exchange-listed or over-the-counter (OTC) securities or derivatives:
- (1) The Client should understand the US rules applicable to trades in security or security-like instrument in markets governed by US laws before undertaking any such trading. US laws could apply to trading in US markets irrespective of the law applicable in the Client's home jurisdiction.
 - (2) Many (but not all) stocks, bonds and options are listed and traded on the US stock exchanges. NASDAQ, which used to be an OTC market among dealers, has now also become a US exchange. For exchange-listed stocks, bonds and options, each exchange promulgates rules that supplement the rules of the US Securities & Exchange Commission ("SEC") for the protection of individuals and institutions trading in the securities listed on the exchange.
 - (3) OTC trading among dealers can continue in exchange-listed instruments and/or in instruments that are not exchange-listed. For securities that are not listed on any exchange, trading can continue through the OTC bulletin board or through the inter-dealer "pink sheets" that carry representative (not actual) dealer quotes. These facilities are outside of NASDAQ.
 - (4) Options on securities are subject to SEC rules and the rules of any securities exchange on which the options are listed. Options on futures contracts on commodities like wheat or gold are governed by rules of the US Commodity Futures Trading Commission ("CFTC"). There are also commercial options, like options on real estate, that are governed neither by SEC nor CFTC rules.
 - (5) When the Client intends to trade in US exchange-listed securities, OTC securities or derivatives (such as options or futures), the Client should understand the particular rules that govern the market in which the Client intends to trade. An investment in any of these instruments tends to increase the risk.
 - (6) Market makers of OTC bulletin board are unable to use electronic means to interact with other dealers to execute trades. They must manually interact with the market, i.e., use standard phone lines to communicate with other dealers to execute trades. This may cause delays in the time it takes to interact with the market place. This, if coupled with increase in trade volume, may lead to wide price fluctuation in OTC bulletin board securities as well as lengthy delays in execution time. The Client should exercise extreme caution when placing market orders and fully understand the risks associated with trading in the OTC bulletin board.
 - (7) Market data such as quotes, volume and market size may or may not be as up-to-date as expected with NASDAQ or listed securities.
 - (8) As there may be far fewer market makers participating in the OTC securities markets, the liquidity in that security may be significantly less than those in the listed markets. As such, the Client may receive a partial execution or the order may not be executed at all. Additionally, the price received on a market order may be significantly different from the price quoted at the time of order entry. When fewer shares of a given security are being traded, larger spreads between bid and ask prices and volatile swings in price may result. In some cases, the liquidation of a position in an OTC security may not be possible within a reasonable period of time.

- (9) Issuers of OTC securities have no duty to provide any information to investors, maintain registration with the SEC or provide regular reports to investors. The Client is strongly advised to proceed with caution and thoroughly research companies before transacting in OTC equity securities. In some cases, issuers of OTC equity securities may have no obligation to provide information to investors and, in many cases, reliable information regarding issuers of OTC equity securities, their prospects, or the risks associated with the business of such issuers may not be available. As a result, it may be difficult to properly value investments in OTC equity securities. The Client should exercise additional care and perform thorough diligence before making any investment decision regarding an OTC equity security.
- (10) The Company, at its sole discretion, may restrict the Client's ability to enter market orders and other order types in certain instances and require the Client to place limit orders to trade OTC equity securities. Some order types when used for OTC equity securities may trigger, route, or execute in a manner different than exchange-listed securities. The Company reserves the right to charge commissions or reject any order in any security (including but not limited to OTC equity securities).
- (20) The Client also understands and acknowledges that the following additional risks involved in trading virtual assets and VA-Related Products:
- (1) For virtual asset futures contracts, in addition to the general risks of trading in futures contracts, the Client should pay extra attention to below warning statements covered the risks specific to virtual asset futures contracts, such as:
 - (i) the risks of the underlying virtual assets (eg, insufficient liquidity, high price volatility and potential market manipulation) may be magnified in trading virtual asset futures contracts by the speculative nature of the underlying virtual assets and the leverage inherent in futures contracts; and
 - (ii) the difficulty of valuing the underlying virtual assets poses significant challenges for investors in reliably valuing virtual asset futures contracts.
 - (2) For all VA-related products, in addition to the risks specific to the product, the Client should be aware of below warning statements:
 - (i) the continuing evolution of virtual assets and how this may be affected by global regulatory developments;
 - (ii) price volatility;
 - (iii) potential price manipulation on trading, lending or other dealing platforms;
 - (iv) a lack of secondary markets for certain virtual assets;
 - (v) most trading, lending or other dealing platforms and custodians of virtual assets are presently unregulated;
 - (vi) counterparty risk when effecting transactions with issuers, private buyers and sellers or through trading, lending or other dealing platforms;
 - (vii) risk of the loss of virtual assets, especially if held in "hot wallets" ;
 - (viii) hacking and technology-related risks; and
 - (ix) new risks which may arise from investing in new types of virtual assets or market participants' engagement in more complex transaction strategies.
 - (3) The abovementioned is not an exhaustive list of warning statements, the Client should refer to the Product Key Facts Keys for specific products and seek independent professional advice if necessary.
- (21) The Client represents (which representation will be deemed to be repeated on each date that a Transaction is entered into) to the Company that this Clause have been fully explained to it and that it has been invited to seek independent legal and financial advice in relation to the matters as more particularly set out in this Clause. The Client further declares that the Client has carefully read this Clause and fully understands and accepts the content of the same and agrees to be bound by the same.
- (22) The Client acknowledges that the risk of loss in financing a transaction by deposit of collateral is significant. The Client may sustain losses in excess of the Client's cash and any other assets deposited as collateral with the licensed or registered person. The Client understands that market conditions may make it impossible to execute contingent orders, such as "stop-loss" or "stop-limit" orders. The Client may be called upon at short notice to make additional Margin deposits or interest payments. The Client understands and accepts that if the required Margin deposits or interest payments are not made within the prescribed time, the Client's collateral may be liquidated without the Client's consent. Moreover, the Client will remain liable for any resulting deficit in his Account(s) and interest charged on his Account(s). The Client acknowledges that he should therefore carefully consider whether such a financing arrangement is suitable in light of his own financial position and investment objectives.
- (23) The Client acknowledges and accepts in the following risks in relation to stock borrowing and lending arrangement:
- (1) Loss of Proprietary Rights If the Client lends any securities to the Company pursuant to a stock borrowing and lending arrangement, his rights, including any proprietary rights that he may have, in those securities may be replaced by an unsecured contractual claim for delivery of equivalent securities and subject to the terms of the arrangement. Despite the above, the Client shall continue to have market exposure (i.e. increase and decrease of price) inherent in the right of return of such loaned securities.
 - (2) The Company Insolvency Risk The Client understands that there is risk that in the event the Company is subject to insolvency or other similar Proceedings, the Client may become an unsecured creditor of the Company in respect of (i) the securities equivalent to the securities or securities collateral being borrowed by the Company, and (ii) any cash sum equal to such securities equivalent.
 - (3) No Margin The Client may be exposed to the credit risk of the Company for the duration of such securities loan transactions in respect of the market value of the relevant securities. No margin will be provided by the Company to you in respect of such exposure.

- (4) Loss of Voting Rights As a result of the Client ceasing to have a proprietary interest in the loaned securities, it is possible the Client may not be entitled to exercise voting, consent or similar rights attached to the securities.
 - (5) Manufactured Dividends In the case of any distribution of interest, dividend or other income in the form of cash relating to any loaned securities, the Company will credit a payment to the Client's Account(s) (net of deduction or withholding for or on account of any taxes) by reference to such interest, dividend or income (a "manufactured dividend"). Where the Client receive or are credited with a manufactured dividend, the Client's tax treatment may differ from your tax treatment in respect of the original interest, dividend or other income in relation to those securities.
 - (6) No obligation to account for any fees and profits that may be received by the Company and Conflicts If the Client authorizes the Company to use any securities pursuant to a stock borrowing arrangement on principal basis, the Company will become the legal and beneficial owner of those securities, and the Company may, without limitation, lend those securities to a third party or an affiliate for its own purposes (including short selling which may not align with the interest of the Client), or deposit such loaned securities with a third party or affiliated financial institution as collateral for financial accommodation provided by the financial institution. The Company may be using or borrowing your securities as principal based on the arrangements that may not necessarily be the best available terms. Provided the Company reasonably believes that there would be no material detriment to your interest, or the Company has taken all reasonable steps to ensure fair treatment pursuant to the terms of the arrangement, the Company may enter into any transaction in its sole discretion with respect to the securities pursuant to which the Company has a material interest and places the Company in a position where its interest may conflict with its duty to the Client. The Company will be entitled to retain for its own account all fees, profits and other benefits received by the Company in connection with such transactions.
- (24) The Client also understands and acknowledges the following:
- (1) There is a risk if the Client provides the Company with an authority that allows it to apply Client's securities or securities collateral pursuant to a securities borrowing and lending agreement, repledge the Client's securities collateral for financial accommodation or deposit the Client's securities collateral as collateral for the discharge and satisfaction of its settlement obligations and liabilities.
 - (2) Unless the Client is a professional investor, the Client's authority must specify the period for which it is current and be limited to not more than 12 months. If the Client is a professional investor, these restrictions do not apply.
 - (3) Additionally, the Client's authority may be deemed to be renewed (i.e. without the Client's consent) if the Company issues the Client a reminder at least 14 days prior to the expiry of the authority, and the Client does not object to such deemed renewal before the expiry date of the then existing authority.
 - (4) The Client is not required by any law to sign the authorities referred to in clause 21(1) above. But an authority may be required by the Company, for example, to facilitate margin lending to the Client or to allow the Client's securities or securities collateral to be loaned to or deposited as collateral with third parties. The Company should explain to the Client the purposes for which one of these authorities is to be used.
 - (5) If the Client signs one of these authorities referred to in clause 21(1) above and the Client's securities or securities collateral are lent to or deposited with third parties, those third parties will have a lien or charge on the Client's securities or securities collateral. Although the Company is responsible to the Client for the Client's securities or securities collateral lent or deposited under the authority, a default by it could result in the loss of Client's securities or securities collateral.
 - (6) A cash account not involving securities borrowing and lending is available from most licensed or registered persons. If the Client does not require margin facilities or does not wish his securities or securities collateral to be lent or pledged, the Client should not sign the authorities referred to in clause 21(1) above and should ask to open this type of cash account.
- (25) The Client also acknowledges that there are risks in leaving securities in the custody of the Company, its associated entities or its agents. For example, if the Company is holding the Client's securities and becomes insolvent, the Client may experience significant delay in recovering securities. These are risks that the Client is prepared to accept.
- (26) The Client represents (which representation will be deemed to be repeated on each date that a Transaction is entered into) to the Company that this Clause have been fully explained to it and that it has been invited to seek independent legal and financial advice in relation to the matters as more particularly set out in this Clause. The Client further declares that the Client has carefully read this Clause and fully understands and accepts the content of the same and agrees to be bound by the same.

RISK OF ENTERING INTO OVER-THE-COUNTER DERIVATIVE TRANSACTIONS WITH AN UNLICENSED PERSON

- (27) If Client enter into over-the-counter derivative transactions with any affiliate of the Company ("Client's Counterparty"), it is important for Client to note that Client's Counterparty is not licensed by the SFC and hence is not subject to the conduct and prudential supervision by the SFC.
- (28) There may be occasions where Client's Counterparty is regulated by a financial regulator (other than SFC) in Hong Kong or in a Foreign Jurisdiction. In such occasion, although Client's Counterparty is regulated by another regulatory body, the regulation of such regulatory body may be different from the regulation of the SFC, and the protection that Client may receive under the regulation of that regulatory body might not be the same as the protection that Client would receive if Client's Counterparty were licensed by the SFC.

- (29) There may be occasions where Client's Counterparty is not regulated by any other financial regulator. In such occasion, Client should also note that Client's Counterparty is not regulated by any other financial regulator and as such, Client may not receive any regulatory protection at all.
- (30) Client should cautiously consider whether it would be in Client's best interest to enter into over-the-counter derivative transactions with Client's Counterparty instead of a licensed corporation and seek independent professional advice when in doubt.

EXPLANATION OF RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH EXCHANGE-TRADED DERIVATIVE PRODUCTS

- (31) If Client wishes to trade exchange-traded derivative products mentioned below, Client should read carefully and understand fully the relevant risks associated with the products as mentioned herein.

Common Types of Exchange-Traded Derivative Products and Relevant Risks

Derivative Warrants ("DWs")

- (32) DWs are issued by third parties such as financial institutions and are generally divided into Calls and Puts. Holders of call warrants have the rights, but not obligation, to purchase from the warrant issuer a given amount of the underlying asset at a predetermined price (also known as the exercise price) within a certain time period. Conversely, holders of put warrants have the right, but not obligation, to sell to warrant issuer a given amount of the underlying asset at a predetermined price within a certain time period. DWs in Hong Kong are usually settled in cash when they are exercised at expiry and are likely to have a unique expiry date.
- (33) The time value of a DW decreases over time. All things being equal, the value of a DW will decrease over time as it approaches its expiry date. DWs are not principal protected and the price of DWs may fall in value as rapidly as they may rise and investors may not be able to get back the principal and may lose all the investment.

Equity Warrants / Subscription Warrants

- (34) They are issued by a listed company and give holders the rights to buy the underlying shares of the company. They are either attached to new shares sold in initial public offerings, or distributed together with declared dividends, bonus shares or rights issues. Upon exercise, the underlying company will issue new shares and deliver them to the warrant holders.
- (35) The time value of an equity warrant decreases over time. All things being equal, the value of an equity warrant/subscription warrant will decrease over time as it approaches its expiry date. Investors may not be able to get back the principal and may lose all the investment.

Callable Bull / Bear Contracts ("CBBCs")

- (36) CBBCs are a type of structured product that tracks the performance of an underlying asset without requiring investors to pay the full price required to own the actual asset. They are issued either as Bull or Bear contracts with a fixed expiry date, allowing investors to take bullish or bearish positions on the underlying asset.
- (37) CBBCs have a call price and a mandatory call feature – For bull contracts, the call price must be either equal to or above the Strike Price. For bear contracts, the call price must be equal to or below the Strike Price. If the underlying asset's price reaches the Call Price at any time prior to expiry, the CBBCs will expire early. The issuer must call the CBBCs and trading of the CBBCs will be terminated immediately. Such an event is referred to as a mandatory call event ("MCE"). However, when the underlying asset of a CBBC is trading at a price close to its call price, the change in the value of CBBCs may be more volatile and disproportionate with the change in the value of the underlying asset.
- (38) There are two categories of CBBCs, namely Category N CBBC and Category R CBBC. A Category N CBBC refers to a CBBC where its call price is equal to its Strike Price, and the CBBC holder will not receive any cash payment once the price of the underlying asset reaches or goes beyond the call price. A Category R CBBC refers to a CBBC where its call price is different from its Strike Price, and the CBBC holder may receive a small amount of cash payment ("Residual Value") upon the occurrence of an MCE but in the worst case, no Residual Value will be paid. CBBCs can be held until maturity (if not called before expiry) or sold on the HKEx (as defined below) before expiry. Investors should not trade in CBBCs unless he/she understands the nature of the product and is prepared to lose his/her total investment.
- (39) The issue price of a CBBC includes funding costs. Funding costs are gradually reduced over time as the CBBC moves towards expiry. The longer the duration of the CBBC, the higher the total funding costs. In the event that a CBBC is called, investors will lose the funding costs for the entire lifespan of the CBBC. The formula for calculating the funding costs are stated in the listing documents.
- (40) Although the price of a CBBC tends to follow closely the price of its underlying asset, but in some situations it may not (i.e. delta may not always be close to one). Prices of CBBCs are affected by a number of factors, including its own demand and supply, funding costs and time to expiry.

Exchange Traded Funds (“ETFs”)

- (41) ETFs are passively managed and open-ended funds. All listed ETFs on the HKEx securities market are authorised by the SFC as collective investment schemes. ETFs are designed to track the performance of their underlying benchmarks (e.g. an index, a commodity such as gold, etc) and offer investors an efficient way to obtain cost-effective exposure to a wide range of underlying market themes. Synthetic ETFs utilising a synthetic replication strategy use swaps or other derivative instruments to gain exposure to a benchmark.
- (42) Investors are exposed to the political, economic, currency and other risks related to the underlying asset pool or index or market that the ETF tracks. There may be disparity between the performance of the ETF and the performance of the underlying asset pool or index or market due to, for instance, failure of the tracking strategy, currency differences, fees and expenses. Where the underlying asset pool/index/market that the ETF tracks is subject to restricted access, the efficiency in unit creation or redemption to keep the price of the ETF in line with its net asset value (NAV) may be disrupted, causing the synthetic ETF to trade at a higher premium or discount to its NAV. Investors who buy an ETF at a premium may not be able to recover the premium in the event of the termination. Where a synthetic ETF invests in derivatives to replicate the index performance, customers are exposed to the credit risk of the counterparties who issued the derivatives, in addition to the risks relating to the index. Further, potential contagion and concentration risks of the derivative issuers should be taken into account (e.g. since derivative issuers are predominantly international financial institutions, the failure of one derivative counterparty of a synthetic ETF may have a “knock-on” effect on other derivative counterparties of the synthetic ETF). Some synthetic ETFs have collateral to reduce the counterparty risk, but there may be a risk that the market value of the collateral has fallen substantially when the synthetic ETF seeks to realize the collateral. A higher liquidity risk is involved if a synthetic ETF involves derivatives which do not have an active secondary market. Wider bid-offer spreads in the price of the derivatives may result in losses.

Rights Issue

- (43) For exercising and trading of the rights issue, investors have to pay attention to the deadline and other timelines. Rights issues that are not exercised will have no value upon expiry. But if investors decide to let the rights lapse, then investors will not need to take any action unless investors want to sell the rights in the market. In that case, the rights must be sold during the specified trading period within the subscription period, after which they will become worthless. If investors pass up the rights, the shareholding in the expanded capital of the company will be diluted.

Leveraged and Inverse Investment Product

- (44) Certain Products are collective investment scheme falling within Chapter 8.6 of the Code on Unit Trusts and Mutual Funds (the “Code”) in the SFC Handbook for Unit Trusts and Mutual Funds, Investment-Linked Assurance Schemes and Unlisted Structured Investment Products. Certain Products may also be subject to additional Chapters of the Code. Certain Trust and Products are authorised by the SFC in Hong Kong under Section 104 of the Securities and Futures Ordinance. The Leveraged Products will utilize leverage to achieve a daily return equivalent to (x) times the return of the Index. Both gains and losses will be magnified. The risk of loss resulting from an investment in the Products in certain circumstances including a bear market will be substantially more than a fund that does not employ leverage. The Inverse Products track the inverse daily performance of the Index. Should the value of the underlying securities of the Index increase, it could have a negative effect on the performance of the Products. Unitholders could, in certain circumstances including a bull market, face minimal or no returns, or may even suffer a complete loss, on such investments.

Futures

- (45) Futures are financial contracts for underlying assets, such as stock, market index, currency or commodity. The underlying assets are bought or sold at an agreed price today, for a set date in the future.
- (46) Investors can trade futures on the HKEx. Investors can buy or sell them with a margin deposit, which only partly covers the value of the contract. Going into leverage can increase the size of their gain or loss. Trading futures can be risky as a broker can make a margin call. This means investors must put in more cash or securities to cover the shortfall of their margin deposit in case the price of the underlying asset moves against your view. The loss could be much more than their margin deposit.
- (47) Effect of “Leverage” or “Gearing”

Transactions in futures carry a high degree of risk. The amount of initial margin is small relative to the value of the futures contract so that transactions are “leveraged” or “geared” . A relatively small market movement will have a proportionately larger impact on the funds you have deposited or will have to deposit: this may work against you as well as for you. You may sustain a total loss of initial margin funds and any additional funds deposited with the firm to maintain your position. If the market moves against your position or margin levels are increased, you may be called upon to pay substantial additional funds on short notice to maintain your position. If you fail to comply with a request for additional funds within the time prescribed, your position may be liquidated at a loss and you will be liable for any resulting deficit.

- (48) Risk-reducing orders or strategies

The placing of certain orders (e.g. “stop-loss” orders, or “stop-limit” orders) which are intended to limit losses to certain amounts may not be effective because market conditions may make it impossible to execute such orders. Strategies using combinations of positions, such as “spread” and “straddle” positions may be as risky as taking simple “long” or “short” positions.

Options

- (49) Options are financial contracts that give the buyer the right to buy or sell an underlying asset (stock, market index, currency or commodity) from the seller at a set price within a certain time.

Investors can trade options on the HKEx. The risks and returns of the option buyer and seller are different. If investors are the buyer, the maximum loss is the premium they pay to the seller. If investors are the seller, they get the premium. But they must also make a deposit as a guarantee to go ahead to buy or sell the underlying asset. Like futures trading, the option seller faces the risk of a margin call. Again, the loss for the seller could be much more than the premium.

- (50) General Major Risks Associated with Exchange-Traded Derivative Products (including but not limited to the following)

(A) Issuer default risk

In the event that an exchange-traded derivative product issuer becomes insolvent and defaults on their issued products, investors will be considered as unsecured creditors and will have no preferential claims to any assets held by the issuer. Investors should therefore pay close attention to the financial strength and credit worthiness of exchange-traded derivative product issuers. Since exchange-traded derivative products are not asset backed, in the event of issuer bankruptcy, investors can lose their entire investment.

(B) Gearing risk

Exchange-traded derivative products such as DWs, CBBCs and Leveraged and Inverse Investment Products are leveraged and can change in value rapidly according to the gearing ratio relative to the underlying assets. Investors should be aware that the value of an exchange-traded derivative product may fall to zero resulting in a total loss of the initial investment.

(C) Limited life

Most of the exchange-traded derivative products have an expiry date after which the products may become worthless. Investors should be aware of the expiry time horizon and choose a product with an appropriate lifespan for their trading strategy.

(D) Extraordinary price movements

The price of an exchange-traded derivative product may not match its theoretical price due to outside influences such as market supply and demand factors. As a result, actual traded prices can be higher or lower than the theoretical price.

(E) Foreign exchange risk

Investors trading exchange-traded derivative products with underlying assets not denominated in Hong Kong dollars are also exposed to exchange rate risk. Currency rate fluctuations can adversely affect the underlying asset value and thereby also affect the exchange-traded derivative product price.

(F) Liquidity risk

HKEx requires all exchange-traded derivative product issuers to appoint a liquidity provider for each individual issue. The role of liquidity providers is to provide two way quotes to facilitate trading of their products. In the event that a liquidity provider defaults or ceases to fulfill its role, investors may not be able to buy or sell the product until a new liquidity provider has been assigned.

(G) Volatility risk

Prices of DWs and CBBCs can increase or decrease in line with the implied volatility of underlying asset price. Investors should be aware of the underlying asset volatility.

(H) Intraday investment risk

Leveraged and Inverse Investment Products are normally rebalanced at day end. As such, return for investors that invest for period less than a full trading day will generally be greater than or less than (x) times leveraged investment exposure to the Index, depending upon the movement of the Index from the end of one trading day until the time of purchase.

(I) Portfolio turnover risk

Daily rebalancing of Leveraged and Inverse Investment Products' holdings causes a higher level of portfolio transactions than compared to the conventional ETFs. High levels of transactions increase brokerage and other transaction costs.

(J) Difference in price limit risk

Leveraged and Inverse Investment Products' investment objective is to provide investment results that closely correspond to (x) times the daily performance of the Index. Although the Index is an equity index, the Products will invest in Index Futures. For example, the daily price limit for individual stocks of the Index at present is +/- 30% while the daily price limit for Index Futures is +/- 20%. As such, should the Index' s daily price movement be greater than the price limit of the Index Futures, the Products may not be able to achieve its investment objective as the Index Futures are unable to deliver a return beyond their price limit.

(K) Trading suspension risk

During the suspension of trading of the Products, investors and potential investors cannot buy and sell units in the Stock Exchange. In terms of providing a fair and orderly market with regarding the interests of investors, the Exchange may suspend the units trading whenever it is appropriate. If the trading of units is suspended, the subscription and redemption of units may also be suspended.

(L) Inverse performance risk

Inverse Investment Products track the inverse daily performance of the Index. Should the value of the underlying securities of the Index increase, it could have a negative effect on the performance of the Products. Unitholders could, in certain circumstances including a bull market, face minimal or no returns, or may even suffer a complete loss, on such investments.

(M) Inverse Product vs. short selling risk

Investing in Inverse Investment Products is different from taking a short position. Because of rebalancing, the return profile of the Products is not the same as that of a short position. In a volatile market with frequent directional swings, the performance of the Products may deviate from a short position.

(N) Long term holding risk

Some Products are not intended for holding longer than one day as the performance of the Products over a period longer than one day will very likely differ in amount and possibly direction from the leveraged performance of the Index over that same period (e.g. the loss may be more than (X) times the fall in the Index). The effect of compounding becomes more pronounced on the Product's performance as the Index experiences volatility. With higher Index volatility, the deviation of the Product's performance from the inverse performance of the Index will increase, and the performance of the Products will generally be adversely affected. As a result of daily rebalancing, the Index's volatility and the effects of compounding of each day's return over time, it is even possible that the Products will lose money over time while the Index's performance falls or is flat.

(O) Futures contracts risks

Some Products are futures based products. Investment in futures contracts involves specific risks such as high volatility, leverage, rollover and margin risks. The leverage component of futures contracts can result in a loss significantly greater than the amount invested in the futures contracts by the Products. Exposures to futures contracts may lead to a high risk of significant loss by the Products. A "roll" occurs when an existing futures contract is about to expire and is replaced with a futures contract representing the same underlying but with a later expiration date. The value of the Product's portfolio (and so the Net Asset Value per Unit) may be adversely affected by the cost of rolling positions forward (due to the higher price of the futures contract with a later expiration date) as the futures contracts approach expiry. There may be imperfect correlation between the value of the underlying reference assets and the futures contracts, which may prevent the Products from achieving its investment objective.

(P) Passive investments risks

Some Products are not "actively managed" and therefore the Manager will not adopt any temporary defensive position when the Index moves in an unfavourable direction. In such circumstances the Products will also decrease in value.

Schedule 4-VIRTUAL ASSET KNOWLEDGE TRAINING

The Client should ensure the Client has sufficient knowledge of investing in virtual assets or VA-related products prior to effecting a transaction in such products and the below Virtual Asset Knowledge Training must be completed by the Client:

Introduction of Virtual Assets

1. Virtual assets refers to digital representations of value which may be in the form of digital tokens (such as utility tokens, stablecoins or security- or asset-backed tokens) or any other virtual commodities, crypto assets or other assets of essentially the same nature (such as Non-Fungible Token (NFT)), irrespective of whether or not they amount to "securities" or "futures contracts" as defined under the Securities and Futures Ordinance (SFO), but excludes digital representations of fiat currencies issued by central banks.
2. VA-related products refers to investment products which:
 - Have a principal investment objective or strategy to invest in virtual assets;
 - Derive their value principally from the value and characteristics of virtual assets; or
 - Track or replicate the investment results or returns which closely match or correspond to virtual assets.
3. Except for institutional professional investors and qualified corporate professional investors, customers should be assessed whether they have sufficient knowledge of investing in virtual assets or VA-related products prior to effecting a transaction in VA-related products. If derivative features are involved, in addition, the customers should be also assessed whether they have sufficient knowledge of investing in derivative products or its relevant products.

Common Types and Features of Virtual Assets

There are a variety of derivative instruments in the market, which can be divided into two basic types:

1. Virtual Currency/ Crypto Currency
Cryptocurrency, also known as cryptographic currency, encrypted currency, and digital currency, e.g. Bitcoin, Ethereum, is an electronic currency formed through the application of blockchain technology, and uses cryptographic principles to verify transactions. Unlike currencies, cryptocurrencies need to be authenticated by a third party, for example, when using a credit card for online shopping, the transaction may subject to verification process requested by the bank). Cryptocurrencies are decentralized, the transactions will not be recorded in the bank, in which directly recorded on the blockchain system.
2. Security Tokens Offering
STOs typically refer to specific offerings which are structured to have features of traditional securities offerings, and involve Security Tokens which are digital representations of ownership of assets (e.g. gold or real estate) or economic rights (e.g. a share of profits or revenue) utilizing blockchain technology. Security Tokens are normally offered to professional investors only.

Applications of Virtual Assets and Regulatory Remits

BACKGROUND

Public interest in virtual assets has grown exponentially around the world since the creation of the most widely-known digital token, Bitcoin, in 2008. Over 2,000 different digital tokens are currently traded around the world with an estimated total market capitalization of over US$200 billion. In recent years, crypto-asset markets have grown significantly, with the Non-Fungible Tokens (NFT) issued by different institutions and individuals prompting a new wave of crypto-asset investment in recent years. There is also a growing demand for funds which invest in virtual assets.

USE OF VIRTUAL ASSETS

Technology is transforming the landscape of the financial industry. Distributed ledger technology offers an anonymous way to digitally record ownership of virtual assets and facilitates peer-to-peer trading. A virtual asset is a digital representation of value, which is also known as "cryptocurrency", "crypto-asset" or "digital token". The polymorphous and evolving features of virtual assets mean that they may be, or claim to be, a means of payment, may confer a right to present or future earnings or enable a token holder to access a product or service, or a combination of any of these functions

Key Risk Associated with Virtual Assets

RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH INVESTING IN VIRTUAL ASSETS

Virtual assets pose significant risks to investors. Some of these risks are inherent in the nature and characteristics of the virtual assets themselves and others stem from the operations of platforms or portfolio managers.

1. Valuation, volatility and liquidity
Virtual assets are generally not backed by physical assets or guaranteed by the government. They have no intrinsic value. There are currently no generally accepted valuation principles governing certain types of virtual assets. Prices on the secondary market are driven by supply and demand and are short-term and volatile by nature. The volatility faced by investors may be further magnified where liquidity pools for virtual assets are small and fragmented.
2. Accounting and auditing
Among the accounting profession, there are no agreed standards and practices for how an auditor can perform assurance procedures to obtain sufficient audit evidence for the existence and ownership of virtual assets, and ascertain the reasonableness of the valuations.
3. Cybersecurity and safe custody of assets
Trading platform operators and portfolio managers may store clients' assets in hot wallets (i.e., online environments which provide an interface with the internet). These can be prone to hacking. Cyber-attacks resulting in the hacking of virtual assets trading platforms and thefts of virtual assets are common. Victims may have difficulty recovering losses from hackers or trading platforms, which can run to hundreds of millions of US dollars. Virtual asset funds face a unique challenge due to the limited availability of qualified custodian solutions. Available solutions may not be totally effective.
4. Market integrity
Unlike regulated stock exchanges, the market for virtual assets is nascent and does not operate under a set of recognized and transparent rules. Outages are not uncommon, as are market manipulative and abusive activities, and these all result in investor losses.
5. Risk of money laundering and terrorist financing
Virtual assets are generally transacted or held on an anonymous basis. In particular, platforms which allow conversions between fiat currencies and virtual assets are inherently susceptible to higher risks of money laundering and terrorist financing. Where criminal activities are involved, investors may not be able to get back their investments as a result of law enforcement action.
6. Conflicts of interest
Virtual assets trading platform operators may act as agents for clients as well as principals. Virtual assets trading platforms may facilitate the initial distribution of virtual assets (e.g. initial coin offerings), facilitate secondary market trading, or both, as in a traditional exchange, alternative trading system or securities broker. If these operators are not under the purview of any regulator, it would be difficult to detect, monitor and manage conflicts of interest.
7. Fraud
Virtual assets may be used as a means to defraud investors. Virtual assets trading platform operators or portfolio managers may not have conducted sufficient product due diligence before allowing a virtual asset to be traded on their platforms or investing in a virtual asset for their portfolios. As a result, investors may become victims of fraud and lose their investments.

OTHER IMPORTANT DISCLOSURE

1. Virtual assets are highly risky and investors should exercise caution in relation to these products;
2. A virtual asset may or may not be considered as "property" under the law, and such legal uncertainty may affect the nature and enforceability of a client's interest in such virtual assets;
3. The offering documents or product information issued by the issuer have not been subject to scrutiny by any regulatory body;
4. The protection offered by the Investor Compensation Fund does not apply to transactions involving virtual assets (irrespective of the nature of the tokens);
5. A virtual asset is not legal tender, i.e. it is not backed by the government and authorities;
6. Transactions in virtual assets may be irreversible, and, accordingly, losses due to fraudulent or accidental transactions may not be recoverable;

7. The value of a virtual asset may be derived from the continued willingness of market participants to exchange fiat currencies for a virtual asset, which means that the value of a particular virtual asset may be completely and permanently lost should the market for that virtual asset disappear. There is no assurance that a person who accepts a virtual asset as payment today will continue to do so in the future;
8. The volatility and unpredictability of the price of a virtual asset relative to fiat currencies may result in significant losses over a short period of time;
9. Legislative and regulatory changes may adversely affect the use, storage, transfer, exchange and value of virtual assets;
10. Some virtual asset transactions may be deemed to be executed only when they are recorded and confirmed by an SFC-licensed platform, which may not necessarily be the time at which the client initiates the transaction;
11. The nature of virtual assets exposes them to an increased risk of fraud or cyberattack; and
12. The nature of virtual assets means that technological difficulties experienced by an SFC-licensed platform may prevent clients from dealing in their virtual assets.
